NEW GOVERNMENT MEMBERS AND ELECTIONS

HIGHLIGHT 16TH ANNUAL MEETING OF CTA

Senator Dr. John A. Watts of Grenada was re-elected chairman of the executive committee of the board of directors of the Caribbean Travel Association at the organization's 16th annual general meeting last month (June 26-29) in Christiansted, St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands. In addition to retaining the top post at CTA, Dr. Watts is chairman of the Grenada Tourist Board, a senator in the island's legislature, and a practicing dentist.

NEW CTA MEMBERS

His past year's administration was highlighted by new memberships of four island governments in CTA in recent months.

They are the Cayman Islands and Montserrat, as first-time members of the organization, and Antigua and Barbados, both of which rejoined CTA after an absence of several years.

Others elected to the executive committee were Carlos Pellerano, director of sales/Latin America, of Inter-Continental Hotels, as vice chairman and director representing industry members; and three directors representing government members, Hector Pineiro, director of the Department of Tourism of Puerto Rico, re-elected; Peter van der Veen, director of the Curacao Government Tourist Bureau, and Max Vincent, directeur de l'Office du Tourisme, Guadeloupe.

Also named to the executive committee were George Markides, general manager of the Curacao Inter-Continental, re-elected as director representing the Caribbean Hotel Association; and Mrs. Jane Condon of the Jane Condon Corp., N.Y., hotel representatives, re-elected as director representing associate members and as secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were David Martin of BWIA, H. Patrick McNally of Ingres Line, and Robert LeDoux of Air France, as industry representatives; Earl Smith of Blue Water Beach Hotel, Barbados; Robert Lake of Courtleigh Manor, Jamaica, and Osmond Kelsick of Blue Waters Beach Hotel, Antigua, as hotel representatives; and Roland Butler of Hill Tours, St. Petersburg, Fla.; James Kridel of Venture Magazine, and Joseph Werner of Holiday Magazine, as associate representatives.

Dr. Watts announced that Guyana, on the northeastern coast of South America, has announced its intention to join CTA in 1968, and that Trinidad and Tobago's membership is now awaiting government approval.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Guest speakers at the meeting were James Montgomery, vice president, passenger sales, of Pan Am; John Nestor, consultant to Home Lines, and William F. Prigge, vice president, marketing, of Hilton International.

Montgomery's discussion on "The Effect of the Coming Explosion in Air Travel on the Caribbean," included film and slides showing the new jumbo and super jets. He stated that Pan Am has purchased 25 747's -- each of which is capable of bringing in 130,000 passengers yearly. Noting that the airlines will provide the needed service for increased tourism, he stressed that governments must plan for the jumbo jets in order to provide the needed airport and ground facilities -- runways, baggage handling, rest rooms, taxis, parking, car rental arrangements, hotels, restaurants, shops and facilities for sports and recreation.

Prigge, in discussing the "Future of Hotels in the Caribbean with the coming of the 747's" stressed the need of competent personnel at the expanded number of hotels which will be required to handle jumbo jet passengers. He pointed out that even if the new jumbo jets are not immediately placed on Caribbean routes, they will release many of the large DC 8's and 707's which will provide increased service to the islands. He praised the present hotel training schools operated at many islands, noting that such programs should be enlarged where necessary. He also asked governments to re-examine the inducements offered to investors to create new hotel facilities. Prigge called for professional promotion of tourism to meet competition from other areas.

Nestor stated that, by and large, transatlantic sailings will be limited to peak summer season, and more and more cruise ships will be diverted to the Caribbean. It is vital, he said, for governments to consider their port facilities and not concentrate entirely on airline needs. Important, he added, are even relatively small expenditures for items such as shelter areas at piers and clean rest rooms. He noted that major marine improvements were being undertaken in Puerto Rico, Jamaica, and the Bahamas, plus a $6 million improvement program planned for St. Johns, Antigua. He suggested that governments take efforts to assure that some shops remain open for passengers during cruise calls on Sundays and holidays. He asked tourist boards to pay more attention to passengers on arrival, and praised the Martinique Tourist Board for its excellent program of providing native folklore dancers aboard visiting ships.

Resolutions adopted called for member governments to make concerted plans to meet the needs of the industry arising out of the advent of the jumbo jets, and for plans to explore uniform procedures for handling cruise ships and aircraft throughout the area.

MORE PASSES FOR AGENTS

A motion was passed requesting the CAB and IATA to raise the current yearly limit of two airline passes per person per agency for familiarization trips by travel agents.

Delegates were welcomed to St. Croix by Dr. A. J. Prendergast, V.I. commissioner of commerce, on behalf of Gov. Ralph Paiewonsky, and by Mrs. Carmen Simmons, assistant commissioner and one of the charter members of CTA.

Governments represented by CTA are Antigua, Aruba, Barbados, Bonaire, the British Virgin Islands, the Cayman Islands, Curacao, Dominica, Grenada, Guadeloupe/St. Barts/St. Martin; Haiti, Martinique, Montserrat, Puerto Rico, St. Kitts/Nevis/Anguilla; St. Lucia, St. Maarten/Saba/St. Eustatius; St. Vincent, Surinam, and the U. S. Virgin Islands.

The association, which promotes tourism and business travel to the Caribbean, maintains its headquarters and information office under Martin J. Winsch, general manager, at 20 East 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10017.

TRAVEL TO CARIBBEAN

SETS RECORD IN 1966

Travel to the Caribbean jumped by more than 15 percent in 1966 to a record high of 2,568,932 visitors as compared with 2,229,240 in 1965, according to statistics compiled by the Caribbean Travel Association. The report covers 22 different governments representing more than 30 islands.

TOP TEN

The top ten destinations in order of popularity were Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Jamaica, Barbados, Curacao, Martinique, Antigua, Trinidad (and Tobago), Aruba and Haiti.

According to Martin J. Winsch, general manager of the Caribbean Travel Association, the statistics generally include tourists, cruise passengers, business travelers, students, and in most cases, visitors from nearby islands.

They represent a fairly accurate measure of travel to Caribbean lands, he said, even though different reporting methods are used by some islands and returns are incomplete from a few. The totals may be used, said Winsch, as an informal guide as to growth of tourism as well as to which are the popular and off-the-beaten-path destinations in the West Indies.

WHERE THE BOYS ARE

"Happy hunting in Montserrat," is Winsch's message to the fair sex. This scenic island reported 5,625 male visitors in 1966 as compared with only 1,689 females. Americans were the largest single group totaling 2,874, followed by 624 Canadians.

-- more --

Incomplete statistics revealed 560,854 cruise passengers in 1966, a jump over similarly incomplete returns of 494,459 passengers in 1965.

The top ten cruise destinations (and number of passengers) were the U.S. Virgin Islands, 117,659; Puerto Rico, 95,970; Jamaica, 66,806; Martinique, 58,269; Curacao, 52,978; Barbados, 47,888; Haiti, 23,000; Aruba, 19,909; Guadeloupe, 17,022, and Grenada, 16,500.

HAITI ON WAY UP

Of all Caribbean lands, Haiti showed the biggest percentage rise in visitors, an impressive 62 percent jump from 26,513 in 1965 to 43,000 last year. The island, once a leading destination, had suffered a tourist drop in recent years but seems well on its way towards recovery.

Islands which showed gains in tourism last year were:

ANTIGUA, up from 60,427 in 1965 to 71,568 in 1966;

ARUBA, up from 40, 174 to 46,306;

BARBADOS, up from 121,082 to 126,992;

BONAIRE, up from 5,887 to 6,475;

CAYMAN ISLANDS, no report in 1965, 8,309 visitors in 1966;

CURACAO, up from 97,440 to 108,806;

DOMINICA, up from 6,897 to 7, 140;

GRENADA, up from 29,840 to 34,635;

HAITI, up from 26,513 to 43,000;

JAMAICA, up from 316,604 to 345,288;

MARTINIQUE, up from 61,118 to 72,938;

MONTSERRAT, no report in 1965, 7,845 visitors in 1966;

PUERTO RICO, up from 703,255 to 819,513;

ST. KITTS, NEVIS AND ANGUILLA, up from 11,766 to 13,689

ST. LUCIA, up from 23,856 to 26,862;

ST. MAARTEN, SABA AND ST. EUSTATIUS, up from 27,064 to 36, 240;

SURINAM (on the coast of South America), up from 9,645 to 10,987;

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, up from 60,920 to 66,190 (no cruise statistics both years);

THE U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS, up from 548,365 to 654,434.

Decreases were reported by the British Virgin Islands, down from 16,316 in 1965 to 14,855 last year, and St. Vincent, down from 21,041 to 12,782. The Dominican Republic, which reported 14,143 visitors in 1965, made no report for 1966.

Many interesting statistics are revealed by the CTA report. Islands giving nationality of visitors reveal that Americans were the largest single group almost everywhere.

Only Curacao showed Americans in second place, with 14,653 visitors as compared with 17,907 Venezuelans. However, these statistics, as with all others reported on nationality, do not include cruise passengers (some 52,978 to Curacao) of whom the overwhelming majority are Americans.

All Caribbean islands reporting sex of visitors listed more men than women!

Interesting statistics from individual island reports are as follows (nationality statistics do not include cruise passengers):

ANTIGUA -- Americans are largest single group, with 28,863 visitors followed by 8,188 Canadians.

ARUBA -- Americans first with 16,818, more than all others combined! Male visitors outnumbered females 14,141 to 12,256.

BARBADOS -- Americans first, with 23,827, followed by an impressive number of 16,372 Canadians. Largest age group was in the 20-34 year-old category, with 23,143 as against the next highest, 15,281, 55 or older. Male visitors outnumbered females 41,175 to 37,929.

BONAIRE -- Americans first with 3,929 visitors, more than all others combined! Biggest age group was 2,192 in the 36-45 class, followed by 1,978 in the 20-35 class.

CAYMAN ISLANDS -- Americans first with 4,289, more than all others combined!

DOMINICA -- Americans first with 1,356 visitors, followed by 500 Canadians. Males outnumbered females 3,831 to 2,209.

GRENADA -- Americans first with 6,357, followed by 3,509 from the United Kingdom. Males outnumbered females 10,085 to 8,050.

GUADELOUPE -- Americans first with 7,408, followed by the U.K., 3,850.

JAMAICA -- Americans way out in front with 158,160 of a total 210,630. Males outnumbered females 107,485 to 103,145. Largest single age group in the 20-35 class with 65,861, followed by the 36-45 class with 46,637.

MARTINIQUE -- Americans first with 7,309, followed by 2,496 Canadians.

PUERTO RICO -- Americans number 613,641 visitors of total 723,543.

ST. KITTS, NEVIS AND ANGUILLA -- Americans first with 2,225, followed by 315 Canadians. Males outnumbered females 3,605 to 2,981. Largest single age group in 36-45 class with 1,948, followed by 20-35 class with 1,856.

ST. LUCIA -- Americans first with 3,957 followed by 1,794 from U.K. Males outnumbered females 9,194 to 5,318. Largest age group was 20-35 class, with 4,002 visitors, followed by 46-55 class with 3,573.

ST. VINCENT -- Americans first with 1,714 followed by 676 from the U.K. Largest single age group was 56 and over with 1,627.

SURINAM -- Americans first with 2,767, followed by 1,218 from the U.K. Males outnumbered females 6,887 to 4,010.

TRINIDAD & TOBAGO -- Americans first by far with 21,320. Males outnumbered females 38,960 to 27,230.

Winsch notes that figures for 1965 have been adjusted downward to 2,229,240 as compared with the original CTA published report of 2,519,082 for that year. Most of this drop was based on new methods of recording visitors as used in 1966.

PINEIRO ELECTED TO TOP CTA POST

-- Ministers From 21 Governments Attend Session To Discuss Super-Jets --

PONCE, P.R. -- Hector Pineiro, director of tourism for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, was named chairman of the Caribbean Travel Association at a special election during a ministers' meeting Sept. 7 to 10 here at the El Ponce Inter-Continental Hotel. He succeeds Dr. John Watts, who recently resigned as chairman of the Grenada Tourist Board after his party lost an election, and therefore was unable to continue as CTA chairman.

The meeting, attended by representatives of 21 Caribbean governments, had been called at the last general session in June in order to alert tourist ministers to the "needs arising out of the advent" of forthcoming super jet service. Guest speakers were James Montgomery, vice president, passenger sales, Pan Am; William F. Prigge, vice president, marketing, Hilton International, and William Patterson, associate publisher, Saturday Review.

Pineiro joined Puerto Rico's Economic Development Administration (Fomento) in 1956, working primarily in its industrial phase of operations. He was named director of tourism by Fomento in 1963, after holding the general manager's post of the Foreign Trade Zones in Mayaguez and Penuelas.

Ministers at the meeting applauded outgoing chairman Dr. Watts, who had been re-elected to CTA's top post at the last general meeting. Peter Bergasse, chairman of the St. Lucia Tourist Board, was named to succeed Dr. Watts on CTA's executive committee as a representative for government members. Carlos Pellerano of Inter-Continental Hotels remains vice-chairman of the committee and director for active industry members.

New Premier Eric Gairy of Grenada announced the appointment of Nevill Dabreo as chairman of the tourist board. Grenada was reaffirmed as site of CTA's next general meeting.

BIG MUSICAL FILMED

ON CARIBBEAN ISLE

Exotic St. Lucia is the tropical locale for many scenes in the new motion picture, "Dr. Dolittle," which premieres December 19 at Loew's State Theater in New York City. The Twentieth Century Fox $15,000,000 production is said to be the most expensive musical ever filmed.

The Caribbean island was chosen for its beautiful beaches, ruggedly scenic hills and colorful tropical foliage. They provide the background for a story about an eccentric English doctor, played by Rex Harrison, who could talk to animals in their own language. Most of the filming on the island was done at the beachfront resort center of Marigot Bay.

Information and folders about St. Lucia are available from the Caribbean Travel Association, 20 East 46th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10017.

ST. LUCIA NIGHT IN NEW YORK

Wearing the colorful, traditional costume of St. Lucia at the New York premiere of "Dr. Dolittle" is pretty Miss Jesse Lloyd, 1967 St. Lucia Carnival Queen, accompanied by Fred Cadet, president of the St. Lucia United Association in New York. They attended on official invitation from the Government of St. Lucia, where tropical scenes were filmed for the $15 million motion picture by Twentieth Century Fox. According to the St. Lucia Tourist Board, movie-goers throughout the world who see the film will be interested to learn that the "Great Pink Sea Snail," a giant prop, was left behind in St. Lucia as a memento of good will, and a sightseeing attraction.
